Earlham College, at Earlham, Indiana

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

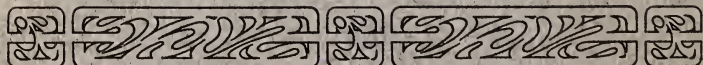

OME years ago, through the medium of THE BULLETIN, we volunteered to assist Earlham graduates and students in every way possible in securing appointments and promotions. Since that time the opportunities to do work of this kind have greatly multiplied.

We hope to keep in close touch with every Earlham teacher, and with that end in view a Faculty Committee on Appointments has been intrusted with this work. This committee consists of Prof. J. H. Coffin, of the Department of Education; Professor Lindley, of the Department of History; Professor Morrison, of the Department of Physics, and the president of the college.

No charge is made for service rendered. If, however, applicants will send in 50 cents or $1.00 it will assist in meeting the necessary expense of correspondence and clerical work.

The College

To the Alumni of Earlham:

DEAR FRIENDS—In presenting this triennial issue of the alumni catalog, we have endeavored to make it of more than ordinary interest to you. We are giving you this time three lists of the alumni:

First—Arranged by classes, in which the Earlham degree and subsequent degrees are given for each and also the names of husbands of alumnæ, books written, present employment and address.

Second—Arranged by place of residence, and giving also the degree, names of husbands of alumnae, date of class and address.

Third—Arranged alphabetically, with date of class.

In all of these lists the student name of alumnae has been used.

The information for this edition of the catalog was gathered between February and June, 1910, and much care has been taken to follow up every suggestion in order to get authentic word from each.

Earlham's alumni now number 955, including those receiving honorary degrees, of whom but 75 are deceased in the 49 classes.

Of the remaining 800 we have heard from all but 25, and of 15 of these we insert addresses which have been given by friends who have recent information about them, marking them "given by a friend"; for the remaining 10 we give the last authentic information together with its date, "as given in 19....." If the address of any alumnus is not correct, we shall esteem it a favor to be given the present address. We wish to keep in touch with you and if you change address or employment during the next three years, please inform us promptly of the change.

Very sincerely,

MARY A. JAY BALLARD, Registrar.
